

Symbols are the Language of Light

Cross of Matter

Individual Consciousness

The essence of working with the cross is to find a balance between the horizontal and vertical life. The horizontal being 'normal' everyday life, the vertical being alignment with the soul or higher purpose. When you are centred and balanced you are able to RESPOND rather than REACT to life's challenges. When the horizontal and vertical arms of the cross are in alignment you become a clear vessel for soul force.

Symbols are the language of the Soul. Therefore holding the symbol of the cross in your awareness, either in meditation or as you go about your daily life helps to instil natural balance and harmony, whilst also opening communication with your own inner guidance.

Visions of Reality contemplation cards and images cultivate awareness of your physical, emotional and mental imbalances, encouraging physical well-being, emotional harmony and uplifting thought patterns. They bring your mind to a point of stillness and prepare the way for alignment with higher purpose.

Three primary energy streams in the form of suits – Light (mental body), Love (emotional body), and Power (physical) – form the foundation for establishing peace and harmony in yourself and your life. One additional suit (rainbow) unites all three and introduces the light of the Soul, the causal body.

Semi-circle of the Soul

Group Consciousness

The Soul is at once a transmitter and a receiver of light and acts as an intermediary between Spirit (the full circle) and matter (the cross). When the Soul is turned towards Spirit, as denoted by an upturned semi-circle, it is a receptacle for Divine Will. When turned about it directs its light as a radiatory force towards matter. Understanding the nature of the Soul through these two functions is key to integrating Spirit with matter; the language of symbol being the medium through which this understanding may be awakened.

The One Soul has many 'bodies' through which it may gain multiple experiences of life in physical existence. This is hard for the ego to comprehend as it wishes to have its own soul, thereby making it special. "It is not 'my soul,' I am a fragment of It." Group consciousness is, therefore, the nature of the Soul. Forming physical groups aligned with Soul purpose occur effortlessly, through natural selection. It is the clarion call of the Soul which draws to its light those who would manifest its presence, not individuals forming groups based on belief systems.

Receive

If we as individuals adopt the receptive aspect of the soul, letting go of our ego wants and needs, and surrender to that which is our true nature, then, as body and Soul unite, we become pure vessels for Spirit to flow through us into matter; the radiatory function of the Soul is thus ignited naturally.

Shine

The diagram opposite illustrates the radiatory nature of the Soul whilst also showing more than one 'body'; this is group consciousness. When individuals choose to align with the Soul they begin to emanate its light, which in turn, not only attracts those of similar resonance, but increases the presence of Spirit within matter; the whole process is accumulative and shows how, through this alignment, one individual may benefit the many.

Stillness Speaks invites the light of the soul by introducing a pathway to expanded awareness, where every choice in life carries with it the intention of aligning with higher purpose. Three primary streams of energy (suits) encourage you to refine your thought processes (Doorways), open your heart to compassionate understanding (Journeys of the Soul) and awaken your mind to cosmic consciousness (Songs of the Cosmos). The fourth suit, 'Synthesis,' uniting all three suits, gives birth to the authentic Self where cosmic consciousness finds expression in your daily life.

Circle of Spirit

Unity Consciousness

Spirit is boundless. It embraces and infiltrates all vibrations and all realities. Its nature is Unity. Entering this realm highlights the inadequacy of using symbol to describe that which is indescribable, for how can 'something' that is boundless be symbolised by a shape having a clear boundary?

Symbols are the language of light, not light itself; they are the word not the One who issues the word. And yet, if we fully understand the second premise in the opening sentence, then we know they are also Light as well as the Word; both Singer and the song. Such is the paradox of Truth.

Through contemplation of symbols and their interaction with each other we may gain direct knowing of that which cannot be known; we can 'be' the Singer and the song. The beauty of symbols is they enable the most profound nature of reality to be understood in such a way that we become it. Nothing is taught yet everything is known - in a moment! The 'circle' diagrams above show the paradoxical nature of Spirit; one is No-thing, the other All; one empty, the other full.

The symbol opposite is the astrological glyph for the planet earth. Look at the components within it. A circle, being also two semi circles and an equal armed cross. Here we have in one symbol, body (cross) Soul, including receptive and radiatory functions (2 semi-circles) and Spirit (circle) - Spirit, Soul and matter united. There is nothing more to be said – the symbols say it all!

Nature's Way instils wholeness and well-being, with each card featuring natural elements found in the subtle realms of the nature kingdom (devas) married to sacred geometric symbol. The devic kingdom holds the Divine Blueprint for the perfection of form on every level, as does sacred geometry, which is how each card, complete in its own right, presents you with the opportunity to embody the Ultimate in spiritual perfection.
